

The Summer Institute of Linguistics
at the University of North Dakota

– LINGUISTICS ON THE EDGE

We aren't really on the edge of the world, but you can reach it from here

- * Explore the wonder of human language
- * Discover the differences and similarities of languages
- * Expand your world
- * Put linguistic theory into practice
- * Learn a language like a native speaker

Whatever your major, whatever your goals, understanding language better can enhance your studies, your career—and your whole life.

SIL-UND students go on to become: bilingual educators, language surveyors, community development workers, missionaries, Bible translators, and anthropologists.

What the students say:

"The atmosphere is extremely friendly, the people care about each other a lot and aren't afraid to laugh with you."

"Every day was chock full of new ideas and activities. Never a dull moment! I appreciated the swiftness with which we received feedback on assignments, and the esprit de corps, the commitment of the teachers."

Full university accreditation * Optional MA in linguistics

Tradition * Bold innovation * Signed languages too

Close-knit community * Staff and students in the same dorm

Teachers with extensive field experience

Summer courses * Low costs

www.und.sil.org

Contact: Director_silund@sil.org (800) 292-1621 (520) 825-6132
Albert Bickford, SIL-UND Director, 16131 N. Vernon Dr., Tucson AZ 85739-9395, USA

The Summer Institute of Linguistics
at the University of North Dakota

– LINGUISTICS ON THE EDGE

We aren't really on the edge of the world, but you can reach it from here

- * Explore the wonder of human language
- * Discover the differences and similarities of languages
- * Expand your world
- * Put linguistic theory into practice
- * Learn a language like a native speaker

Whatever your major, whatever your goals, understanding language better can enhance your studies, your career—and your whole life.

SIL-UND students go on to become: bilingual educators, language surveyors, community development workers, missionaries, Bible translators, and anthropologists.

What the students say:

"The atmosphere is extremely friendly, the people care about each other a lot and aren't afraid to laugh with you."

"Every day was chock full of new ideas and activities. Never a dull moment! I appreciated the swiftness with which we received feedback on assignments, and the esprit de corps, the commitment of the teachers."

Full university accreditation * Optional MA in linguistics

Tradition * Bold innovation * Signed languages too

Close-knit community * Staff and students in the same dorm

Teachers with extensive field experience

Summer courses * Low costs

www.und.sil.org

Contact: Director_silund@sil.org (800) 292-1621 (520) 825-6132
Albert Bickford, SIL-UND Director, 16131 N. Vernon Dr., Tucson AZ 85739-9395, USA