MOHALL NATIVE INTERNS AS WEB DESIGNER FOR AWARD-WINNING NEWS SHOW

Katie Haarsager excels on the Studio One marketing team

GRAND FORKS, N.D.— Katie Haarsager is a junior at the University of North Dakota pursuing a degree in Communications. She is currently in her first semester interning at Studio One, UND's weekly news production. Her main responsibility is updating the Web site. She uses industry standard programs including Dreamweaver, Photoshop and Final Cut Pro to keep the Web site up to date with story content. Every week she uploads scripts, graphics and stories on the site. When asked what her favorite part of Studio One is she says, "Having access to computer programs and software that I otherwise, would not be able to learn."

In addition to Studio One, she is involved with other student organizations including, Advertising Club, Non-Profit Student Leaders club and works as a student ambassador.

This MLS-Mohall graduate will be working with the Chicago Festival Association during the summer of 2010. After graduation, she plans to work in marketing or public relations with a focus on entertainment. She says Studio One has taught her computer programs that will help her stand out in the professional world.
